Alva Zella Matheson and LaKay's papers from LaKay M. Weber's Home machine, a Necchi, and got the zipper in my peddle-pushers and my blue suit skirt, and took in the waistband on my black skirt.

It's lots easier now. Then I did my ironing and mended a couple of slips. Then I sat down to the typewriter. I stopped only for a couple of 15 minute rests, a surprise visit from Charles, and a phone call from Burns, and I got it all finished and my sheets a lphabetical by 5:00. I have 65 family group sheets typed up now on that line. Charles is going to help me check them back and cross-check them tomorrow, and it may take a couple of evenings. The library opens Monday, so we can working on the Smith line.

I found out something about Great-Grandmother Evans; the one Dad wanted me to work on if possible.
