Alva and Zella Matheson files from LaKay M. Weber's home.

Becker City, Utah

November 6, 1926.

Mrs. Vivian Bannan,

Kingston, Utah.

Dear Mamma:

Sister brought your letter to me when she came from town this morning. I am so glad you enjoyed your pine nuts and know from past experience that a 'Hershire' always finds its place. Something like that helps to pass the lonesome evenings. Kingston best of anything I know.

When you look at the flowers think of me because I admired them so much and tried to pack them so that they would carry alright. If you will put a little ammonia in the water and then clip the ends off a little once in a while they will keep almost indefinitely. There are some of the same kind in the library table.

I was reading one of Otis's old letters last Sunday. It seems queer that he should have been writing so often and then break off sharp. I am wondering if something has happened to him or if he ran off in his new car and forgot the world.

Yes dear, I will send my coat over Monday. I believe she can use it by just heming it up. I have worn it all fall because I hated to get my red one out, it is rather worn and dilapidated. However, I am going to clean it up tomorrow and I think it will look better. I can't use my pink but and coat anymore 'til spring.

I stayed home this morning and cleaned, while Sister had the kids vaccinated, then came down town. I must go back now because there is always lots to do at night.

Abbie is coming down for dinner tomorrow. I love you, Zella
