Alva and Zella Matheson files from LaKay M. Weber's home.

same place again. However they find a new one.

I am so sorry

your eyes are weak.

Don't strain them in the least. Wish we were near you, so that we could help you.

Today's letter

contained your plan for the summer. I am glad you would like to come home. We are tickled

at the prospect, but won't build air castles untill it's sure. We intended to urge as long a visit, as possible. One for all summer will be great.

We could plan and work out the winters problems

together.
